OAKLAND BOY PILOTS FIRST MAIL PLANE

Lucky 71 Hops Off in San Francisco At 6:15, and Is in Reno at 8:20, Cutting 27 Minutes From Schedule

Westbound Pioneer Mail Air Flier Passed Over Hump; Craft Due at Pacific Terminal Due at 2 P. M. Today

CARRYING 700 pounds of mail, the first transcontinental postal airplane to leave San Francisco cleared from the Marina field at 6:15 a. m. today, fifteen minutes before it was scheduled to start.

To the booming song of its big motor and a wave of the pilot's hand, "Lucky 71," veteran plane of the Chicago-New York aerial mail service, was off for Reno on the first leg of its journey.

Ray Little, of Oakland, held the stick of the big flier which has soared 78,000 miles without accident.

PLANE REACHES RENO, CUTS 27 MINUTES OFF TIME

The big mail plane arrived in Reno at 8:20 with the first consignment of east bound mail from San Francisco. The plane left a mail sack there and, piloted by A. C. Sharcknack, departed for Salt Lake at 9:27. Little's time from San Francisco to Reno cut forty-two minutes from the schedule but owing to his early departure the actual cut is reduced to 27 minutes.

The schedule of the mail airplane called for its arrival in Reno at 8:02 a. m. coast time and in Salt Lake at 8:31 p. m. mountain time today. It is due at the Mineola field, N. Y., at 4 p. m. Sunday.

The departure of the mail airplane followed the arrival yesterday in San Francisco of a mail airplane from Cheyenne, Wyoming, after completing a ten flight from that city. The first regular transcontinental mail airplane departing from New York was expected to arrive here at 2 p. m. today.

PILOT EXECUTES WIDE CIRCLE AS FAREWELL

Pilot Little when he hopped off had in his "plane" 300 pounds of letters. As he headed upward he turned into a wide circle as a farewell to those below and then was gone. There were mail bags for Salt Lake, Cheyenne, Chicago and New York. "Carrying United States mail is a little less exciting than shooting down Hunns," said Ray Little, former member of the Twenty-second Aero Squadron, who is officially credited with four victories over German aerial fighters during the war.

Yesterday under the guidance of Stanhope S. Boggs of Oakland, plane No. 102, settled gracefully onto the landing field carrying forty pounds of letters from Salt Lake. The 102 was really from New York, an all-metal De Havilland four, which had traveled by east coast to Salt Lake. It left Cheyenne for Salt Lake Wednesday afternoon and Salt Lake at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. Flying time, including stops at Salt Lake, was about seven hours from Salt Lake to this city, the average speed being approximately 100 miles an hour. Boggs arrived at Elko for an hour and a half, at Reno for three hours and at Sacramento for an hour.

Colonel John L. Jordan met Boggs, and expressed satisfaction at the performance. Jordan is in charge of the western terminus of the air mail route.

WEST BOUND MAIL FLIER LEAVES SALT LAKE AT 1:20.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 10.—The U. S. mail airplane with mail arrived here at 1:20 a. m. today from Cheyenne, Wyo. The machine, which is piloted by P. J. Murray, hopped off for the 1:20 p. m. Murray expects to reach Reno, Nev. before dark.

Seven sacks of mail are aboard the plane piloted by Murray. Four of these are consigned to San Francisco, two for Washington state, one for Oregon and one contains mail for California points outside of San Francisco. But three letters were left here and none was put aboard.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 10.—The mail airplane piloted by J. P. Murray, which landed here early last night, hopped off at 5:18 o'clock this morning for the west, with Rock Springs as the first stopping place.

PLANES FORCED TO LAND IN DENSE RIVER FOG

DIXON, Ill., Sept. 10.—Three mail planes were forced to land in the vicinity of Dixon this morning by the heavy fog, which delayed them until nearly noon. One Chinese and Omaha plane, Pilot A. L. Jewell, and a plane being ferried through to San Francisco in charge of Pilot Lang, met in the transcontinental mail service, met a few miles west of Dixon, and were forced to land in a pasture. Another mail plane being "ferried" through to Cheyenne in charge of Pilot Lang, was forced to the ground east of this city. All "hopped off" at noon:

The Supreme Court did not decide on salary question in recent suit.

While Captain Walter J. Petersen was in San Francisco today securing the court order which would restore him to his place on the Oakland police department, Commissioner F. E. Morse issued instructions to Chief of Police Lynch giving back to Petersen his position as captain of detectives.

At the same time Morse directed a letter to Chief Lynch ordering the reinstatement of Inspector Lew F. Agnew, whom he discharged several weeks ago because a quantity of drugs was missing from the inspectors' bureau. Agnew appealed to the Civil Service Board, which after hearing the evidence in the case, ordered Agnew's reinstatement upon the ground that the evidence was not sufficient upon which to discharge him. Lynch at once informed both Petersen and Agnew of his decision.

Petersen's action relieved Petersen of the trouble of serving his paper, and smoothed the way for his return to the city hall. Petersen will take up his duties late this afternoon.

The question of the money that is due to Petersen for back pay during the time of his discharge is one that may break the seeming agreement which the return of the officer has been accomplished. Petersen says that he intends to collect the $1350 that has been withheld, while Morse holds that the supreme court did not take any cognizance of back pay.

While Petersen says that he is willing to battle for the money, and will make every effort to get it, he also expressed it as his desire that an end should come to the long controversy.

"I have no quarrel with Commissioner Morse either politically or personally," he said. "What I want is peace."

Of the back pay, Morse said:

"The Supreme Court did not pass upon the point as to whether he was entitled to back salary," said Morse.

By a peculiar situation, Morse was the one who had raised Petersen's pay to $225 before his discharge.

As to the possible discharge of Petersen after he returns to office, Morse asserted that his own views were problematical.

"Whatever is done," said Morse, "I will not attempt to evade the order of the Supreme Court in any way. The Supreme Court's order must and shall be obeyed."

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

TOKYO, Sept. 10.—Viscount Uchida, minister of foreign affairs, today gave a luncheon in honor of the American Congressmen who are visiting Japan. The function was attended by the entire cabinet and other notables. Later the city of Yokohama cordially received the Congressmen.

In Paris Tragedy

OLIVE THOMAS, musical queen, actress, and movie star, who drank poison by mistake and met death, and JACK PICKFORD, her husband, who accompanied her on her trip to Paris.

MOVIE STAR SIPPS FATAL POISON CUP

Olive Thomas Dies in Paris, Where She Went on Short Pleasure Tour With Her Husband, Jack Pickford

Poisoning Accidental, Doctor Says; Pill of Gloom Settles Over Movie World; Mary Pickford Cables for News

PARIS, Sept. 10.—Olive Thomas, formerly widely known on the American musical comedy stage and for several years past a motion picture star, died at 7 o'clock this morning in the American hospital at Neuilly. She was taken to that institution Sunday suffering from slow poison having swallowed a poisonous solution early that day, according to Dr. Joseph Choate, the American physician in charge of her care.

EVERY EFFORT MADE TO COUNTERACT POISON

Recently Miss Thomas, who came to Europe with her husband, Jack Pickford, had suffered from nervous depression, it was said. First aid was promptly given her by Pickford, when he returned Sunday to the hotel where they were staying and found his wife in a serious condition, and every possible effort was made at the hospital to counteract the effects of the poison. But without avail.

DR. CHOATE SAID HEADACHE WAS CAUSED BY ACCIDENTAL POISON

Miss Thomas had suffered from a headache for several days, it was said, and Pickford had given her a medicine containing 12 grains of bichloride of mercury, sufficient to kill twenty-five men; but he added that she had taken it through error.

RECENTLY Miss Thomas, it is said, had been suffering from nervous depression and had expressed fear for the safety of her husband, Jack Pickford. According to Dr. Choate, it was only through the prompt first aid given by Pickford on his return to the hotel where they are staying that Miss Thomas lived long enough to undergo an operation.

Discovery was made, they said, that a white-painted dory was missing from the wharf near where the girl clipped her hair, donned overalls and started away with a pair of oars.

Searchers were combing the waters off Cape Anne for some trace of the craft.

Pickford sprang into nation-wide prominence some years ago when he purchased $50,000 "Peter the Great," probably the best known and most valuable stallion in the world.

Miss Fletcher's parents are at a loss to explain why she went away. The girl eluded a maid in whose care she had been placed and fled from Grapetown Cove, where her parents live, to Gloucester, Mass.

Fletcher, occupying a cottage. Later she was seen rowing past Black Bass ledge. They fear her small craft was capsized. She is the daughter of Stoughton Fletcher, millionaire banker of Indianapolis.

HOPHAM DECLARES G. D. P. REFUSED TO INCREASE LIMIT

'I'll Die in Jail for Ireland,' MacSwiney Told His Brother

By S. D. WEYER,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—"Peter, I'm thinkin' I'll be out of here before long. But I'm thinkin' also, Peter, that I'll be back in gaol for a long time, and likely not. I'll die in gaol. Somehow I seem to be feelin' it in my blood, have felt it all my life—that I'll die in gaol. But it'll be for Ireland, Peter for Ireland."

In a cell of London's grim old Reading gaol, where Oscar Wilde wrote his immortal prison ballad, Hugh O'Neill, the hero, the said he first heard of the opposition to proposed prohibition from his attorney, was cited to an interview by Wayne Wheeler, one of the Republican heads of the Anti-Saloon League, a Republican organization.

"Mr. Bryan is one of the prominent heads also, is he not?" asked Kenyon.

"No. Just a prominent enemy," Moore retorted.

"He is a Democrat, though, is he not?" the chairman protested.

"Yes, I have heard."

The committee at the noon recess announced that the investigation of the charges of Governor Cox would be completed here tomorrow, and that the committee would then recess to meet in some Eastern city on September 22.

Turpentine Bandages
Afire, Burn Man

MARTINEZ, Sept. 10.—Charles Gomez, aged 36, a farm laborer living at Vine Hill, near here, is in a serious condition at the Contra Costa county hospital today recovering from burns received when turpentine soaked on his arms and legs caught fire yesterday.

Gomez, who was sitting on his front porch, started to light a cigarette when the bandage on his arm caught fire and his clothes burst into flames. His wife rushed to his assistance and smothered the fire, but not before he had been badly burned.

Gomez was recovering from a bad cold he had received Wednesday and the bandages soaked in turpentine liniment were being used to relieve his pain.

D'Annunzio Orders Constituent Assembly

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Captain Gabriele D'Annunzio, who yesterday proclaimed the "Italian Republic of Quarnero," has summoned a constituent assembly to meet in six weeks, says a Milan despatch to the London Times. The D'Annunzian troops have taken the oath of fealty to the new republic, it is said.

UNCANNY PARADELLS.

The interviewer's eye fell on a handkerchief bound little volume, "The Revolutionist. A Play in Five Acts" by Terence J. MacSwiney.

It was written by Cork's lord mayor—he did not hold office then—in the turbulent days of the Ulster near-rebellion, not long before the war, and published in March, 1914.

KYNEE'S ORPHAN IS TAKEN IN BY FRENCH SOCIETY

Glancing through it one finds almost uncanny parallels with the author's present plight and his now almost certain end. It is the story of an Irish rebel who dies not in prison, but in hiding. His sweethearts and friends died in gaol. Somehow I seem to be feeling it in my blood, have felt it all my life—that I'll die in gaol. But it'll be for Ireland, Peter for Ireland."

In a cell of London's grim old Reading gaol, where Oscar Wilde wrote his immortal prison ballad, Terence MacSwiney said this to Peter Joseph MacSwiney, his brother.

WHAT MACSWINEY SAID.

"The British government," said Peter MacSwiney as the reporter fingered the pages of the book, "is hounding Terry up as an assassin, a low, contemptuous individual. Look what they are on the last page."

The interviewee reads: "To my mother's memory for the heritage of her great faith, the beauty of her living example and the ecstasy of her dead face."

"Are those the words, is that the spirit of an assassin?" fairly shouted Peter MacSwiney, as the reporter reflects.

"They are not for me to praise my brother," he advised in a voice whose emotional tremor was accentuated by a quaint touch of native brogue that ten years in America have failed to erase.

"But to me Terry comes nearest to having lived a Christ-like life of any human being I have known."

Then his mind seemed to wander back to years ago when he and his brother were boys.

Woman Doctor Found With Wrist Slashed

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10.—Dr. Olga McNeile, a woman physician, was found unconscious in her apartment early today, one of her wrists slashed with a sharp razor blade which was found beside her. She was taken to a hospital, where it was said an artery had been severed, but the chances were Dr. McNeile would recover.

Dr. Olga McNeile was divorced from Dr. Lyle G. McNeile, also a physician, about a year ago, deserting him.

The two continued practice in the same office until the summer of 1913, when Dr. Olga McNeile has been despondent and threatened to take her life according to her former husband and her secretary, Miss Ruth Sapp.

Premier Near Solution of Italy's Woes

ROME, Sept. 10.—Belief exists in political circles that an agreement which will end the conflict between Italian metal workers and their employers, which resulted in the occupation of more than 400 plants by the men during the last week, is imminent.

It is pointed out that Premier Giolitti must leave Saturday for Aix-les-Bains, where he will meet Premier Millerand of France, and that he could not go if the situation in Italy was not cleared up.

In this edition, the Tribune reflects this understanding.

"Negotiations recently resumed for a solution of the metal workers' conflict," the newspaper says, "promise to result favorably. An agreement seems to be near on the economic question, and despite complications, there is reason to believe difficulties will be overcome so that tomorrow at the latest the dispute may be considered settled."

Police Rearrest Man
Freed on Court Writ

Obtaining his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus, granted by Judge W. M. Conley, M. J. Laycock was immediately re-arrested by Inspector William Enigh of the Oakland police today.

Oliver was taken into custody by the Oakland police on telegraphic information from Eugene, Oregon, that he was wanted for issuing a check without funds. According to Attorney George Witter, his counsel, Laycock got into trouble by helping out two friends, issuing a second check in the expectation that a former friend would return a loan in time to make it good at the bank.

Burglar in Her Home

SAN JOSE, Sept. 10.—Dashing into her home at 475 North Fourteenth street last night in the belief that she had just seen her husband enter, Mrs. E. H. She was visiting at the home of a neighbor when she saw the man enter.

Lightning Sets Off T. N. T., Killing Mules

DURANGO, Colo., Sept. 10.—

When lightning struck the electric wire with such a terrific spark it exploded the charge. Richland Lager, a mule of Idaho Springs was killed at the Line creek camp on the Durango-Silverton highway.

The company with several other men Lager was putting in a round of shots using TNT as the charge. The electric line was strung and preparations almost completed when the lightning struck the wire and exploded over the charge. Lager was buried over the spot when the explosion came.

Fourteen charges were set off by the lightning. Harry Bowra of Astec, N. M., was passing on the highway with a string of pack mules when the explosion came. Bowra and his train were blown off the grade. Several of the mules were killed, but the man escaped with cuts and bruises.

WOMEN MUST GIVE REAL AGE TO BE VOTERS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 10.—Women voting in Indiana primaries and elections will have to give a definite age or their vote will be disqualified, according to a ruling made public today by the state board of election commissioners.

As a result many women who sought to keep secret their ages by writing "21 plus" after the age query have been disqualified. These women will have to register again if they want to vote in the presidential elections in November.

Stewart's mass Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, and Gounod's "Ave Verum" is an offertory, repeating part of the program at the 12:15 o'clock service.

JURY CONVICTS FARMER FOR KILLING BOY, 3

DEFIANCE, Ohio, Sept. 10.—Joshua Botkins, Nibley (township) farmer, was found guilty by a jury of second degree murder in the death of Artie Gould Bullock, his housekeeper's three-year-old boy, here yesterday. The jury had been out about six hours. Botkins was charged with holding the boy by the ankles and beating him with a heavy harness tug at the Botkins farm home the night of July 8.

This is the first ball for three years and ever offered an extended evening. The man in charge, the successful Chief of Police J. Lynch, has announced that as many officers can be spared will be permitted to attend and participate in a number of original stunts and drills now being arranged.

Tickets were placed on sale today and are being distributed by all policemen. According to Police Inspector John P. Mulhearn, chairman of the arrangements committee, tickets will be on sale at downtown stores.

The proceeds of the affair will go to the fund of the Widows' and Orphans' Association of the Oakland police department. The last policeman's ball was held in 1917 when the proceeds went to the Red Cross. During the war it was voted by the association to suspend the annual affair.

General Wrangel Not Offered Aid by U. S.

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE, LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The United States has not offered economic aid to General Nikolai, former Russian general, who is staying in London purporting to show that Rear-Admiral Newton A. McCully, representative of the United States in south Russia, had professed economic aid to the Wrangel government. The reports are without basis, officials said, and they were inclined to doubt whether Admiral McCully had made any offers whatever to Wrangel officials.

HARDING MORE CONFIDENT SINCE MINNESOTA TRIP

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
MARION, Ohio, Sept. 10.—Back from his tour after his first speaking excursion, Warren G. Harding planned to rest and catch up on his mail today.

He will receive two delegations of negro Baptists and may speak briefly to them. General Pershing, who came from Chicago with Senator Harding, planned to go to Washington today. He said no political significance was attached to his visit with the Republican nominee.

In front porch campaign is now entering its final phase and the senator expected to receive many delegations before he begins making his speaking trips, which probably will keep him out of town much of October.

Delegations from California, New York and less distant points were scheduled up to September 25.

Those associated with Harding since his nomination noted indications of increased confidence and self assurance in the candidate as a result of his trip to Minnesota.

By HERBERT W. WALKER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 10.—The mothers and young men of America will vote this fall to have the United States enter the League of Nations, James Cox predicted here this morning, in response to the day-long stamp invasion of Washington.

Speaking at the station first before a meeting of young men who will cast their first vote this fall, the Democratic candidate asserted that the mothers and the men in the service "know what war is," and that they desire to make international conflict impossible.

Today began the second week of the governor's nation-wide stamp drive. His fighting spirit appeared to be gaining momentum and he pushed further into the West. His physical condition, despite the fact that he has made 57 speeches in one week, still is excellent.

BUTTE, Mont., Sept. 10.—A definite pledge to "present the Irish cause to the League of Nations" over his election and further vicious attacks on Republican leaders and that party's contributions were made here last night by Governor Cox of Ohio in closing his Montana campaign.

In three extensive speeches yesterday at Helena, Anacortes and Butte, and in a half-dozen rear platform talks en route the Democratic presidential candidate concluding the last week of his Western tour, hammered the league, the Republican "corruption fund" and labor issues into his audiences.

The Irish question developed at the governor's meeting here in front of the courthouse lawn.

VIEWED AS DUTY

...and very quickly availed of as a blend of personal and the financial needs of any member of the league to present the Irish cause to the attention of the league under the authority given by article XI and give to Ireland, or any other aggrieved people the opportunity to plead their cause before the bar of civilization.

BABY KILLED IN ELEVATOR SHAFT

Mrs. Guo, 41, aunt of Paul, 11-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Guo, of 910 Oak street, who was the baby plunge four stories down from the elevator to his death at the Gladson Park Apartments yesterday afternoon, is not held responsible for the accident.

Richard Boehme, elevator operator, also, who was arrested on the technical charge of manslaughter, is released on his own recognizance.

Guo, who is an electrician for the Oakland school department, had taken his wife and four-year-old child to San Francisco from the holiday and the baby was left with Boehme, who is an Oakland high school girl. She prepared the baby for an airing and wheeled it to the elevator.

As she was entering the car, Boehme tried to put the car on a level with the floor. Instead the elevator shot upward, tipping the baby carriage, and the baby rolled into the open well.

Co-ed Freshmen Are Assigned Advisers

Freshman girls in the University High School were guests of honor last week at an informal reception which initiated them into the activities of the student body. F. H. Horan, principal, and President Heiser of the student body made short addresses of welcome. Leaders of the various girls' clubs gave talks. The affair was planned by Miss Sturtevant, girls' league advisor, and Miss Edna Cobblewick, league president. Games concluded the day.

Under the advisory system, each freshman girl is assigned a senior advisor. Any girl belonging to the student body automatically becomes a member of the Girls' League, which acts in co-operation with the student body and is a unit of the Inter-High School Girls' League of Oakland.

Murder Charge Put Against Strikers

RECORD BROKEN IN SUBSCRIPTION OF FRENCH LOAN

Subscription of the French loan within one hour of the opening of the subscription books was an almost unprecedented experience in the flotation of foreign loans in this country.

While it was confidently expected that a speedy sale would follow the offer of the loan it was predicted by no one that the loan would be taken up so fast as applications could be entered.

One thing was demonstrated by the entry of the French loan in the market which is significant. It was proved that there is a buying public quick in appreciation of the relative values of investment offerings, which is made clear by its money on the table in big time.

What results may follow from the advent of the French financial inci-ence and its effect on the exchange is already demonstrated that exchange has benefited. French credit in this country has had the support of national currency, and the same is true, never more pronounced than at this time, and this fact is reflected somewhat in American consideration of all other European powers. It is reported from Paris that practically all securities were advantageously affected by the quick-action subscription of the French loan.

It is well known that the deposit of an early accession to the American hoard of gold, insured by this French subscription, will have a beneficial effect upon the exchange rate. While it may not result in reduction of interest rates, it is bound to ease the anxiety felt in some centers regarding the soundness of our reserves.

Until the high point of financial strain is passed, sixty days hence, interest rates will undoubtedly remain at their present level, according to the experts, unless some emergency ever avoidable. Not before completion of the crop handling will there be felt that back flow of money to the banks which will prompt money rate reductions.

SCORCH ARE INJURED

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 10.—A score of persons were injured, two perhaps fatally, today when a Jefferson avenue car crashed into the rear of a Hamilton line car at Grand Tower and Third avenues.

75,000 SCHOOL HOUSES NEEDED, SAYS CLAXTON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—"American public schools opening for a new year face conditions of the utmost seriousness," Philander P. Claxton, commissioner of education, said here today. Among conditions he enumerated were:

Lack of accommodations for three million of the arms of children re-entering city schools.

Shortage of 75,000 "adequately equipped" elementary school teachers for both rural and urban schools.

Shortage of 16,000 "adequately prepared" rural school and high school teachers.

Shortage of 75,000 schools which at present building prices would cost $9,000,000,000 to construct.

The fact that from one-third to two-fifths of American teachers lack adequate preparation.

"It will take a minimum of three or four years to meet this school room shortage, according to bureau of education officials. This is due to halting of building during the war, present cost of building and difficulty of relating school bond issues."

"Schools will handle the room shortage by crowding and relaying pupils," according to Claxton, "but at a cost of efficiency in instruction impossible to estimate."

GIRLS RATED ABOVE BOYS AT PRUNE PICKING

SAN JOSE, Sept. 10.—An announcement was made that they will provide a chaperon and a sanitary camp was embodied in an application for girl prune pickers placed with the state free employment office here today by the owner of a mountain ranch. A wage of $3.50 a day will be paid the pickers, the rancher stated, and a bonus will be given to those who pick more than 25 boxes of fruit. Girl pickers were tried at this ranch last year, it is stated and they proved to be more efficient than boys.

THIS CAT, TRUE TO OLD SAYING, DID COME BACK

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., Sept. 10.—"Red," Bloomfield's tom cat pedestrian, today curled up on a bag of bran and purred contentedly while Lawrence Blamey, his owner, proprietor of a feed store, patiently applied some salve to his paws.

Red's owner had driven to the quick by a hike of six miles from a farm which Mr. Blamey sold a year ago. Thinking his pet cat would prefer field mice to those of the feed store variety, Mr. Blamey left "Red" on the farm, but yesterday the exhausted feline succeeded in finding the new home of his master.

Raisins From Hooch Block Chicago Sewers

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Hooch dealers of the home variety are seriously interfering with sanitation conditions in Chicago, according to Street Commissioner Sterling. The commissioner made the statement after finding East Chicago sewers blocked by a mass of raisins, the waste product of home brewing. He claimed that it is the twelfth time in the last few months that raisins—minus their kick—have clogged the drainage system.

FRUIT GROWERS AT STATE FAIR THROUGH GROUNDS

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 10.—The fruit growers of the state are attending the state fair today in mass. Following a survey of the exhibits at the exposition they are to hold a conference with G. H. Hecke, director of the Bureau of Agriculture.

This is also coast counties' day at the fair, but the big attendance of people from these sections is expected tomorrow and Sunday. Tomorrow is San Francisco's day at the fair, and the following day Oakland will hold forth. Both cities are planning to send large delegations here.

FRESNO WINS PRIZE

County exhibit awards were made yesterday and to Fresno went the prize for the best display. King's county was second, Placer third, Stanislaus fourth, Alameda fifth and Los Angeles sixth.

The program tomorrow and Sunday follows:

SATURDAY, SEPT. 11
"San Francisco, Los Angeles and Farm Bureau Day"

Morning—Demonstration auction of hogs by Farm Bureau officials; auction of prize steer.

Afternoon—Attractions same as previous days, with special stunts for San Francisco and Los Angeles visitors.

STOCK SECTION.

Among losers of thoroughbred stock, the $2,000,000 stock parade yesterday attracted much attention. King Kamehameha, a colt, the $1,000 Holstein-Evian, built exhibited by Mrs. Anita M. Baldwin of Santa Anita, led the stock parade Little Sweetheart, California bred and raised cow credited with being the most prominent shorthorn matron of the world, followed Mrs. Baldwin's prize animal. Little Sweetheart took the grand championship at Chicago last year. She is owned by Thurston Glode of Davis, and took the grand championship here yesterday.

CHAMPIONS IN PARADE.

Glode also had Scottish Lord, grand champion shorthorn bull, in the parade, and this animal attracted much comment from livestock judges in attendance.

Four Aberdeen-Angus imported animals carried the banner of James Marwick of Santa Barbara in the exhibition.

Beautifully groomed horses with fair riders formed the second section of the parade.

A new feature of the show was the Ingham herd of milk goats, which made their first appearance here yesterday.

Following the completion of the parade Governor Young had dinner with the state Fair directors.

ACTOR MARRIES
IDA VON CLAUSEN

Whether Captain Raymond H. Mayberry, Los Angeles actor, is the "cave man" who pursued her across the country, only to be thwarted by jiu-jitsu, Countess Ida von Clausen refuses to say. The countess was the principal figure in a number of stories which covered country-wide. She met Mayberry at Reno yesterday, and incidentally revealed for the first time the fact that she was divorced from Fred Davis, millionaire coal operator of London.

It was less than a month ago when the countess went to Los Angeles and created a stir, where she told a story of having been pursued by a cave man. She never mentioned her divorce, however, and it was only after she had left money in a business venture, which was taken to have her declared insane. Four courts decided against her and she was incarcerated for a time in Matteawan. There were kidnappings and escapes and a final release.

At Reno the beautiful countess gave her age as 39, and Mayberry, who was divorced in New Haven, Conn., in June, placed his at the same figure.

Baby Against Prison Rules: Woman Barred

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 10.—Mrs. Walter Burlington, indicted in a federal court in Wisconsin of having used the mails to defraud and sentenced to three years' imprisonment, was refused admission to the Missouri state penitentiary today because she had a six months old baby with her. A deputy marshal started back to Wisconsin with Mrs. Burlington and the baby.

The Letters of Tessie and Joe

Joe is a traveling salesman. Tessie is his loving wife. Follow their letters in THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE.

DEAR TESSIE:

Well, it does seem to stay hot, don't it? Old better half? Oh well, I'd just as soon have extremes of heat as extremes of cold, but no sooner, so that's not much of a consolation as it started out to be. I think I must of got that way from a New Thought bird that's staying at this hotel while he's delivering a bunch of lectures at the opera house on how to kid yourself along.

I was complaining to him about the weather, not that I thought it was his fault, but he handed me a little spiel all about how I wouldn't mind the weather if I only managed to make up my mind that the heat was only a mere passing drop in the bucket and not worthy to be sneered at by respectable people. So I thought I'd try to forget it by imagining how much worse I would feel under other circumstances, and I started in imagining myself slipping on a banana peel and landing on a lot of broken glass and then getting up and doing it all over again about twenty more times, until I was a mental wreck and welcomed the thought of the heat back again.

So I guess after all, Tessie, we need a few minor complaints, such as hot weather and tight shoe, to keep us from climbing up on soap boxes and making speeches against the landlords and sugar pirates. Not that I think speeches oughtn't to be made against them, but I hate over-crowded soap boxes.

Don't allude to "Bolsheviks" Tessie. It's "Bolsheviki," a kind of a Italian plural, I believe. Personally I prefer Democrats and Republicans, but maybe it's a mere matter of taste and for all I know a gang of Bolsheviks might turn out to be a bunch of fine fellows after they got through confiscating your bank account and stealing your shoes for the good of the cause.

My birthday is next week, as you no doubt remember, but please don't buy me anything unless you can do so with money you've managed to save somehow. Much aff.

Tomorrow Tessie Gaily Depresses Joe With Her Recital of a Visit From His Mother.

MY HEART AND FURTHER REVELATIONS OF MY WIFE

The Way Mr. Walters Responded to Madge's Invitation

His eyes were turned on me with loyalty and fidelity that warmed my heart. Jim is one of the rarities of this earth, a man who remembers kindnesses done and tries to repay them. I have known always, understanding my little maid's gentle nature so well, that Katie, devoted as she is to me, upon several occasions would have left my service in the heat of her tempestuous outbursts of anger had her husband not remained loyal and faithful.

The task with which Lillian had laid himself before his rugged common sense and upon Jim would be beautifully performed. She could have chosen no better benchmark.

When the door had closed behind Jim, Lillian looked at me with eyes in which lurked a twinkle.

"Fess up now," she said, "that you're wondering why under the sun I didn't wait until tomorrow morning to tell Jim what I wanted him to do."

"Such a thought has crossed my mind," I said smilingly, "but I'm afraid I'm blushing again," she responded, "and I wouldn't have told a man of another type than Jim. It will take him all night to turn the thing over in his mind, and get it all settled to his own satisfaction. If he had been compelled to go on such an errand—knowing the importance of it and the imperative necessity for secrecy—with but a few minutes' notice he would have been completely rattled.

"Who but you could have read Jim that way?" I exclaimed, and the words were like little ones.

What Lillian Suggested

"Wrap up the necessary trifles until we are through with this business. I haven't time to make a bow now," Lillian said impulsively, but I knew that behind her mirth lay grim truth, and I straightened myself into an attitude of attention and waited for her further directions.

"Didn't you say this Walters chap has a sister you know very well?" she asked after a few minutes' thought.

"Yes, Esther," I replied. "She was a favorite pupil of mine last year."

"Know her well enough to call her up and ask her and her brother over this evening for a game of bridge?"

"Of course."

"Then do it pronto," Lillian rose and stretched her arms weakly. "Make the invitation so cordial and insistent that when it is repeated to the brother he will suspect there is something up and break any other engagement he may have made."

Significant Words

"What'll we do with the rest of the family?" I ventured as I turned toward the door.

"I'll drop a word in your father's ear that will keep him out of the way, while I speak with another—in fact, you know that the merest hint to the effect that there is some mysterious planning going on will send her to her room in the seventh heaven of thrilling suspense."

We both laughed merrily at the remembrance of several occasions when my mother-in-law's fondness for anything that savored of melodrama in real life had reduced her usual arbitrary hauteur to abject meekness and obedience to orders.

"As for the Dicky-bird," Lillian went on, answering my unspoken question, "it isn't likely he'll come to the nest to catch singing birds fly away. But if he does, leave him to me. I'll clip his wings."

I permitted myself a bit of wondering speculation on my way down the stairs to the telephone ax to the plan Lillian had for getting possession of the desk. That she had some definite course of action mapped out I was sure, but with my slow-wittedness I could not guess what she meant to do.

I could obey her orders, however, and in another minute I had called the Walters home and was listening to a deep, masculine voice, which I recognized at once as that of the young attorney.

"Mr. Arthur Walters speaking," the voice said crisply.

"How do you do, Mr. Walters?" I said with my very best air for the benefit of any listening operator. "This is Mrs. Graham. Is Esther there?"

"Not just now." His voice held a note of irrepressible astonishment. "She went out on an errand for mother. But she will be back within ten minutes."

"Oh, that will be all right then," I said. "Mrs. Underwood and I wondered if you were Esther. Esther could not run over tonight and take a hand at bridge. We are the only friends in our families, and we haven't had a game in ages. It really is imperative that you come and join us."

I tried to throw a significance into my last words that I hoped he would recognize. And I could not repress a smile at my description of Lillian and myself as bridge bums. Lillian, if she chooses, plays a brilliant game, but the pastime bores her to death, while I am one of the persons who possess absolutely no card sense at all.

Mr. Walters waited a minute that seemed an hour before answering.

The Straight Tone Arm Brings Them Straight to You

The Columbia Grafonola brings all the artists whose records you play straight to you in your own home because—

THESPIANS WILL DRESS GAUDILY

Byzantine costumes, brilliant in coloring and classic in form, will be the innovation introduced at the production of "A Winter's Tale," by Mills College students in the campus out-of-door theater on the afternoon and evening of Saturday, September 26.

Mrs. Marian L. Stebbins and Frederick McConnell have decreed that the traditional Greek and Elizabethan periods shall be superseded by the more spectacular Byzantine features. A new method of lighting will be adopted, abolishing footlights or spotlights.

The cast which has been chosen for the annual Shakespearean play includes:

King of Sicily, Ada Beveridge; Camillo, Miles Wood; Antigonus, Margaret Sloss; Cleomenes, Mary Laura Meyers; Poll Jones, King of Bohemia, Harriet Coleman; Florizel, Prince of Bohemia, Esther Waite; Archidamus, Lord of Bohemia, Elizabeth Cufte; old shepherd, reputed father of Perdita, Esther Butters; Clown, his son, Irene Williamson; Autolycus, Roger, Daniel Allen White; Jaques, Elizabeth Corbin; Ferdinand, daughter to Leontes and Hermione, Wilma Waite; Paulina, wife of Autolyn, Margaret Song; Hermoine, queen to Leontes, Lois Hunter; Hippo, Muriel Colenian; Dorcas, Lotte Harris; first lord, Katherine Tilden; second lord, Jean Gunn; third lord, Ruth Johnston.

WHIST PARTY TONIGHT

Oakland Homestead, No. 824, neighborhood of American Yachtmen, will give a whist party tonight in the O. Y. C. hall, Eleventh and Franklin streets.

THE FIRST EXPERIENCE

Youth with its vitality makes for the young mothers' health and happiness. But later maternal experiences bring a different result. The care of a family, multiplied household duties, and very often the weakness caused by womanly disease, tend to prolong the suffering and to make convalescence a slow and weary process.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription prepares the prospective mother. It promotes the appetite, cures nervousness and sleeplessness, and gives a consciousness of buoyant health. It is unequalled as a strength-giving tonic for mothers during the period of convalescence. Listen to what this woman says:

OMAK, WASH.—"In the five years we have been married we have had three children and lost two of them. I doctoried with two of our local doctors and they told me I had kidney trouble. I began taking Dr. Pierce's medicines, first having written to Dr. Pierce's Invalid Hotel, in Buffalo, N. Y., telling exactly how I was and had been, what I had done, and asked what I should do. They told me to take Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is a woman's medicine; the Golden Medical Discovery, which is a tonic; and the Anuric Tablets for the kidneys. I took all of these medicines, and to-day I have a strong, healthy little girl, also I am better than I ever was. I can never thank Doctor Pierce enough for his kindness in giving me advice all during my pregnancy, and in analyzing the samples free of charge, that I sent to him."—Mrs. H. D. Simpson.

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women. All druggists, fluid or tablet form.

Fairbanks Bank Is Sued for $52,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—Judge Frank S. Dietrich has taken under advisement the plea of Mrs. Isabelle Barnette that $52,000 worth of property which she deeded to the receiver of the defunct Washington-Alaska Bank be returned to her. She sets forth that this deed was executed after she had received threats that her husband was to be assassinated, her children kidnapped and bodily harm like done her.

Barnette and his wife were the founders of Fairbanks and the $52,000 was a part of the fortune she had accumulated there. Barnette was interested in the bank at Fairbanks when it failed.

Big Irrigation Project Meets With Approval

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 10.—Irrigation matters were discussed at an informal conference of members of the California State Irrigation Association here this afternoon.

The association is working for the adoption of a bill, introduced in 1919 by Rep. L. B. Marshall, formerly of San Francisco,—on foot. They expect to seek up jobs on the way to furnish them expenses on their lengthy trek across California.

HOUSEHOLDER'S ROCK FUSILLADE SCARES THIEVES

Rocks instead of bullets were used early this morning by an irate householder to frighten away burglars who were trying to force an entrance to his residence by prying open the back door.

At 3:30 o'clock M. S. Schloss, 611 Jean street, heard the sound of the "jimmy" grating against the wood of the door, and he instantly surmised that burglars were at work. He sprang to his feet and warning his wife to keep quiet, Schloss slipped out the front door and made a circuit of the house. As he walked around the house he gathered a handful of rocks from the path.

He came upon the burglars before they had succeeded in opening the door. Tip-toeing toward the intruders so quietly that they had no inkling of his approach, Schloss opened fire, not with his gun, but with a volley of well-aimed rocks at close range.

There were exclamations of surprise and pain from the crooks, who sprang to their feet and looked around. They were met with another fusillade of rocks from the angry Schloss, who then produced his gun and threatened to shoot them. The burglars left their tools at the door and fled in the darkness.

Lovers of Good Music Are Finding Happiness in This

Brunswick Style 7---$115

It is beautiful in design, in finish and wonderfully so in the bigness and truthfulness of its tone, aside from which it has all the exclusive Brunswick features—playing at their very best the records of all makers and all artists, and that, too, without change—just a turn of the hand and it is done.

Logically the Style Seven is the Phonograph for the home, where satisfaction and economy go hand in hand.

Poles Attack Reds in Drive; Take Men, Guns

WARSAW, Sept. 10.—The Polish armies on the northeastern front delivered a series of successful attacks upon the Russians today and took 3,500 prisoners, four guns and two armored trains.

VIOLENT BATTLE RAGING ALONG 175 MILE FRONT.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—A violent battle is raging on a 175-mile front in Poland and Galicia, according to a soviet war office communiqué wired from Moscow today. It says:

"North of Brest-Litovsk our troops have reached the Lensa river. There is now fighting east of Lublin and along the Bug river. In the direction of Lemberg we captured several British guns, in the sector of Vladimir Volynsky we smashed enemy attempts to force a crossing of the Bug river. We advanced in the direction of Rohatyn."

LITHUANIA-POLE PEACE WILL BE DISCUSSED.

WARSAW, Sept. 10.—Decisions relative to the military situation Lithuania and peace terms to be insisted upon by Poland at the conference with Soviet Russia at Riga were reached in a session of the council of defense held last night, but the government refused to give any details relative to them.

There are hints in official quarters that M. Grabski, leader in the Polish Diet, or Prince Sapieha, may be selected president of the peace delegation.

City Planning Board Named for Berkeley

BERKELEY, Sept. 10.—Berkeley's city council this morning named George L. Schneider, Oscar F. Barber and Professor Charles H. Smith as city planning commissioners for five years, and appointed Professor Eugene Neuhans of the University art department to succeed Commissioner C. C. Newkirk, resigned.

An appropriation of not more than $12,500 was made for the purchase of hose and a pumping engine for the fire department, and George Stocker was named permanent secretary of that department, succeeding Thomas Peckham.

SOCIETY GIRLS SWIM GATE; NOW SECRET IS OUT
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—The fact that Mrs. Alice Oyster and her sister, Miss Helen Parker, prominent in bay society circles, swam the Golden Gate has just become known, and now they are receiving the plaudits of their friends.

Thefeat was accomplished last Sunday during an open competition. Not wishing to have it known that they participated in the swim, the two women entered under assumed names. Some of their friends, however, learned of their secret and told of the fact.

The message declares that after the Bolivian revolution, which resulted in mobilization of the armies of Chile and Peru and threatened hostility between them, the countries' Presidents Wilson suggested a conference of representatives of both nations, offering the use of the gunboat Tacna, which was in the Bay of Callao, for carrying on the negotiations.

DISPUTE IS SETTLED

On acceptance of this proposition by Peru, continued the despatch, Chile sent Dr. Puga Borre, who, when Chilean minister of foreign affairs, had tried to effect a settlement, to meet the Bolivian delegates. As a result of conferences extending over a period of three weeks, adds the despatch, it is reported Peru agreed to renounce her rights to the provinces of Tacna and Arica and annul the existing treaties affecting those provinces, upon receipt of the sum mentioned and enter into a reciprocal commercial treaty with Chile.

NITRATE CONTROL SOUGHT

After the defeat of Peru by Chile in the war of 1879-83, the provinces of Tacna and Arica, which contain rich nitrate deposits, were ceded provisionally to Chile by Peru with the understanding that after ten years a plebiscite should be held to determine whether they should revert to Peru. This plebiscite has never been held and the conflicting claims for the provinces have been for many years a source of friction between the two nations.

Peru became complicated with the last Bolivian movement to obtain an outlet to the sea by obtaining from Chile the Port of Arica. Bolivia was cut off from the sea by cession of a territory she made to Chile as the defeated ally of Peru in the war of 1879-83. The Bolivian government, which had advanced the claim for Arica, the granting of which would have been prejudiced to the claims of Peru, however, was overthrown by a revolution last spring.

Berkeley Hillside Homesites SLASHED 60 PER CENT

10% additional discount for all cash paid during this sale

Balance as low as $1 a week

No interest or taxes for one year

Sixty per cent reduction means a cut of $600 on a $1000 lot—or a sale price of $400. For every dollar you pay on a lot, during the sale, you receive an additional 10 per cent cash discount. You pay no interest on deferred payments or pay no taxes for one year

This map of one block in North Cragmont gives an idea of the startling reductions made during the Estate sale in this choice property.

In order to liquidate the estate of the late Harold Havens it is positively necessary to sell immediately the remaining lots in North Cragmont. In order to absolutely insure this a blanket reduction of 60 per cent has been made.

Here is an opportunity for you to become a property-owner in the finest residence section of Berkeley at prices which will never be duplicated in such high-class property.

Former and present sale prices are open to public inspection—printed lists can be had for the asking.

These remarkable reductions—due to the forced sale necessary to settle the Harold Havens Estate—enable you to

Beat the High Rents

The first step toward buying a home is buying a lot. This forced sale puts a choice homesite within the reach of everyone. One dollar a week will do it. You can start building immediately. See this property. Compare it for location, view, transportation, improvements—for everything that makes home-life desirable.

Fifty-foot lots (equal to 2 ordinary city lots)

From $95 to $800

No lot over $800

84 lots under $300. Only 11 lots over $650

Sixty-nine per cent of the property sold to date has been bought by people living in Berkeley. This is a remarkable testimonial to the value of this property. Berkeley people know this property better than anyone else and—THEY BOUGHT.

One man living in North Cragmont and the owner of 4 lots, bought 7 lots more. Another, an owner of 3 lots, bought 5 more.

How to Reach North Cragmont

From San Francisco—Take Berkeley Key Route or Southern Pacific Shattuck Avenue train to Berkeley station. Then take Euclid Avenue "Cragmont car" to Sale Office at Regal Road, North Cragmont.

From Eastbay Cities—Take any Berkeley car and transfer to Euclid Avenue "Cragmont car" at Shattuck and University avenues to Sale Office at Regal Road, North Cragmont.

By Auto—From Berkeley go out Spruce Street to Regal Road, North Cragmont, then two blocks east to Sale Office at Regal Road and Euclid Avenue—or go out Euclid Avenue (following car line) from North Gate of University campus to Sale Office at Regal Road, North Cragmont.

WATER IS DISTRICT PROBLEM.

Citizens of Albany will vote on November second on the proposition to join with Berkeley in the formation of a public utility district. Berkeley and the outlying districts to the north will vote on the same proposition at special election on November 13. The particular object which the proponents of this plan dwelt upon now is the solution of the water supply problem.

Mayor Bartlett of Berkeley explains the proposed union of Berkeley and Albany by saying that he has tried to induce the other municipalities in the Eastbay district to join with those two cities in obtaining a new water supply, but has failed. He therefore deems it necessary that the north end of the county go it alone.

What the mayor of Berkeley apparently means is that the other municipalities have failed to join in the exploitation of the particular scheme for a new water supply which he has set his mind upon—the development of a supply in Marin county. That is the plan proposed by City Engineer O'Shaughnessy of San Francisco, the official in charge of the Hetch-Hetchy power and water project. It is true that the remainder of the county and the city of Richmond in Contra Costa county have not shown as much alacrity in accepting the counsel of San Francisco as has been manifested in Berkeley.

But the other cities did join with Berkeley in an investigation of the water situation, in sincere purpose to seek the best way out as indicated by expert knowledge and judgment. The Eastbay Water Commission was formed. An engineering committee was appointed and a well known water engineer employed in an advisory capacity. The other cities are most anxious to pursue the examination of the subject. But the engineering committee's report and the action of the whole commission on that report did not please the Hetch-Hetchy faction, or, more correctly speaking, the O'Shaughnessy faction, in the Berkeley city government. So Berkeley has abandoned the Eastbay Water Commission and Mayor Bartlett is pursuing his idea of a temporary auxiliary supply in Marin County.

It so happened that the water commission indicated its judgment that the Eel River project was the cheapest and capable of quickest development. But while this is a strong presumption in favor of the superior availability of Eel River, it does not mean that the judgment of the commission is infallible. The subject was not closed by the water commission's report. It cannot be closed until a new water supply is obtained for the Eastbay district.

Therefore the better and only rational method to pursue is for the Eastbay cities to stand together for the solution of this vital problem, common to the interest of all the cities. It will involve the expenditure of much money and the ultimate acquisition of the present water utilities by the municipalities. This can best be managed by the formation of a public utility district composed of all the Eastbay territory served by the present utilities, which extends into Richmond and other Contra Costa County jurisdiction.

If the municipal governments will attempt the discussion of this subject with the understanding that the people must ultimately decide which project of several that may be offered, shall be accepted, the failure of which Mayor Bartlett speaks will not be faced. The judgment of the people would be for cooperation and careful study of all the projects and schemes presented, with preference for the most economical, and at the same time most adequate, new water supply.

Refusal of one or a few officials to act in harmony with this spirit should not be called failure on the part of the municipalities; it merely is, official failure.

Following the recommendation of the Federal Trade Commission, the United States Attorney General has started proceedings in the federal court in Los Angeles to bring about the dissolution of the California Associated Raisin Company or compel it to amend its practices.

The charge against the association is that it exists in restraint of trade and so manipulates the raisin market of the country that unreasonable profits accrue to its operators. The Federal Trade Commission made a very thorough investigation of the methods of the raisin combine and submitted evidence which left in the lay mind very little doubt as to its monopolistic intentions. The commission ordered the raisin monopoly to modify its price fixing practices and some of its contracts, especially that with the California Packing Company, if it wished to enjoy the farmers' exemptions allowed under the Clayton law, and it intimated that even after it ceased to offend the Clayton law it might be liable to prosecution under the Sherman anti-trust law. That the raisin company does not intend to claim the benefits of the Clayton law or submit to its restrictions is indicated by the anti-trust suit. The proceedings will be watched with considerable public interest.

OREGON.

General Alvaro Obregon will be the next constitutional president of Mexico; unless returns on the election last week are false or another revolution ensues to interfere with the expected normal process of affairs. He has polled an overwhelming majority over all the other candidates for the office. The plans of the present provisional government contemplate that he shall be the next President. No obstacle to his inauguration, in the regular course of events, now can be seen.

Popular elections in Mexico hardly deserve the name. The percentage of the people voting is dismally small, even smaller than in a bond election or municipal primary in American cities. They do not, to an appreciable portion, vote understandingly, the orders of officials or soldiers usually sufficing for their guidance. The administration in power has a tremendous advantage over anti-administration candidates, and such has been the case with Obregon.

But despite all these considerations there is no indication that Obregon is not the most popular figure in Mexico today and that he was not the majority choice of the people, not only of those who voted but of those who did not concern themselves with the presidential election.

Obregon has not been a non-partisan in the internal affairs of the last half-dozen years by any means, but he has not aroused enmities that cannot be compromised. There is no faction that cannot, in good conscience, accept him as president or that can find any objection against him which cannot also be made against any other Mexican official or politicians.

Apparently the plan which Obregon and General De la Huerta of Chihuahua made last spring, when they joined forces in the successful revolution against President Carranza, is working out according to schedule. De la Huerta was to head the revolutionary movement and to be made its official chief, in case control of the federal government was obtained, until a popular election could be held. When Carranza was overthrown De la Huerta accepted the office of provisional president with the understanding and emphatic assurance that he would occupy it only until the people could, at a popular election, indicate their preference. He would not himself become a candidate.

The covenant has been kept so far. In this the Obregonistas have shown their political wisdom. They have so played their cards as not to appear permanently to seize the government by force of arms, but to drive out the administration they charged with unfitness and then put their cause up to the people. They have observed the constitutional prohibition against a military officer of high rank aspiring to political office by the resignation of General Obregon from the army and the refusal of General De la Huerta to let his name be used in connection with the presidential candidacy.

Thus when Obregon is inaugurated he will be in a much better legal and moral position than any of his predecessors since Porfirio Diaz. Apparently he has profited by the examples of Madero, Huerta, De la Barra and Carranza. He does not want to be in a position which he must defend continually by a powerfully military organization the loyalty of which is sustained only by the high privileges it enjoys. He would like to reduce the military expense by winning the acquiescence of all factions and the people in his assumption of the presidency.

In this respect Obregon has displayed more ability and a higher quality of statesmanship, as well as political astuteness, than any of his predecessors. Certainly he has taken more pains than any other factional chief to make it appear that he was endeavoring to raise up a government of law in Mexico, in accordance with the national constitution.

How much ability Obregon will display in the actual administration of the presidency remains to be seen. He has left no record of special mental brilliance or profound intellectual attainments, but he has shown himself to be a practical man with no small measure of native understanding. Perhaps he has become better acquainted with the people of the United States and their attitude toward Mexico than any other Mexican.

When Obregon is inaugurated and the government he will constitute assumes power there will be no further excuse on the part of this or any other country to withhold recognition of the new Mexican government.

With Los Angeles newspapers, distance lends enchantment to earthquakes. The mild shock in San Jose Thursday provoked large full page headlines in the Los Angeles papers, while the destructive series of temblors at home were barely mentioned at all.

NOTES and COMMENT

Some surprise has been expressed over the refusal of an Oakland official to accept an increase of salary. It cannot be stated as an established proposition that this city aims to surprise in that way, but many commendable things occur here.

Alameda city's manager has taken worthy action in promulgating advice to parents to keep their children from playing in streets. In this day of the prevalent and rapid automobile, accidents are much more likely than they were when vehicles were not as numerous nor as swift. Children in the street become absorbed in play and oblivious to danger, their movements being generally eccentric, thus contributing to the dangers that abound in modern traffic.

While it is desirable that laws should be enforced, Federal magistrates are exerting their authority to the end that they shall be enforced according to law. The magistrates seem to have difficulty in getting in understanding that prohibition enforcement officials have no authority to search for liquors without search warrants.

According to reports Candidate Harding made a very popular appearance at the Minnesota Fair in the first set speech of the campaign. In appropriateness of theme, readiness of expression and earnestness he may be compared with McKinley and Roosevelt, though without the impetuosity of the latter.

The Republican candidate for the Presidency dwelt upon the restoration of the railroads to the highest efficiency. If he had made it "development" instead of restoration the idea would not have been suggested that the great carriers have been undergoing a retrograding experience through government control.

Sacramento Daniels has discredited the very old idea that alcoholic liquors, on occasion, are medicinal, by abolishing them as a medicine in the navy. It is true that snakebites are not expected aboard ship, but other emergencies arise when a nip would be good for the stomach's sake, according to the most ancient authorities. But Daniels is the doctor in the navy, and what he says goes.

It may not have been generally understood that martial law has prevailed in Denver since August 7 on account of a street car strike. It was called off September 8, but troops remain in the city to see that rioting is not renewed. The street car strike seems to be the great industrial upsetter of the land.

The first aerial mail is not likely to beat the regular post by the margin that was figured on. However, all innovations must have a start, and must come into their greater efficiency through experience. The pony express gained time over the stage coach, just as the railway supanted the express, and as the airship will now cut down the time of the railroad.

O. Henry's fame has been added to by the discovery that his story "Roads of Destiny" was "plastered" from an Egyptian papyrus four thousand years old. O. Henry was not an Egyptologist, and it will not be difficult to establish for him an alibi. But he was a keen delineator of human nature, which hasn't changed greatly throughout the ages. In his daily stories now running in THE TRIBUNE there may be other parallels; but if any shall be discovered it will only prove that he had a discernment as to traits that persist in humanity, and a great knack of setting forth his observations in narrative form.

If the highway between Benicia and the cemetery on the Vallejo road is not repaired before the winter rains it will mean a big loss to the county—Benicia Herald.

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

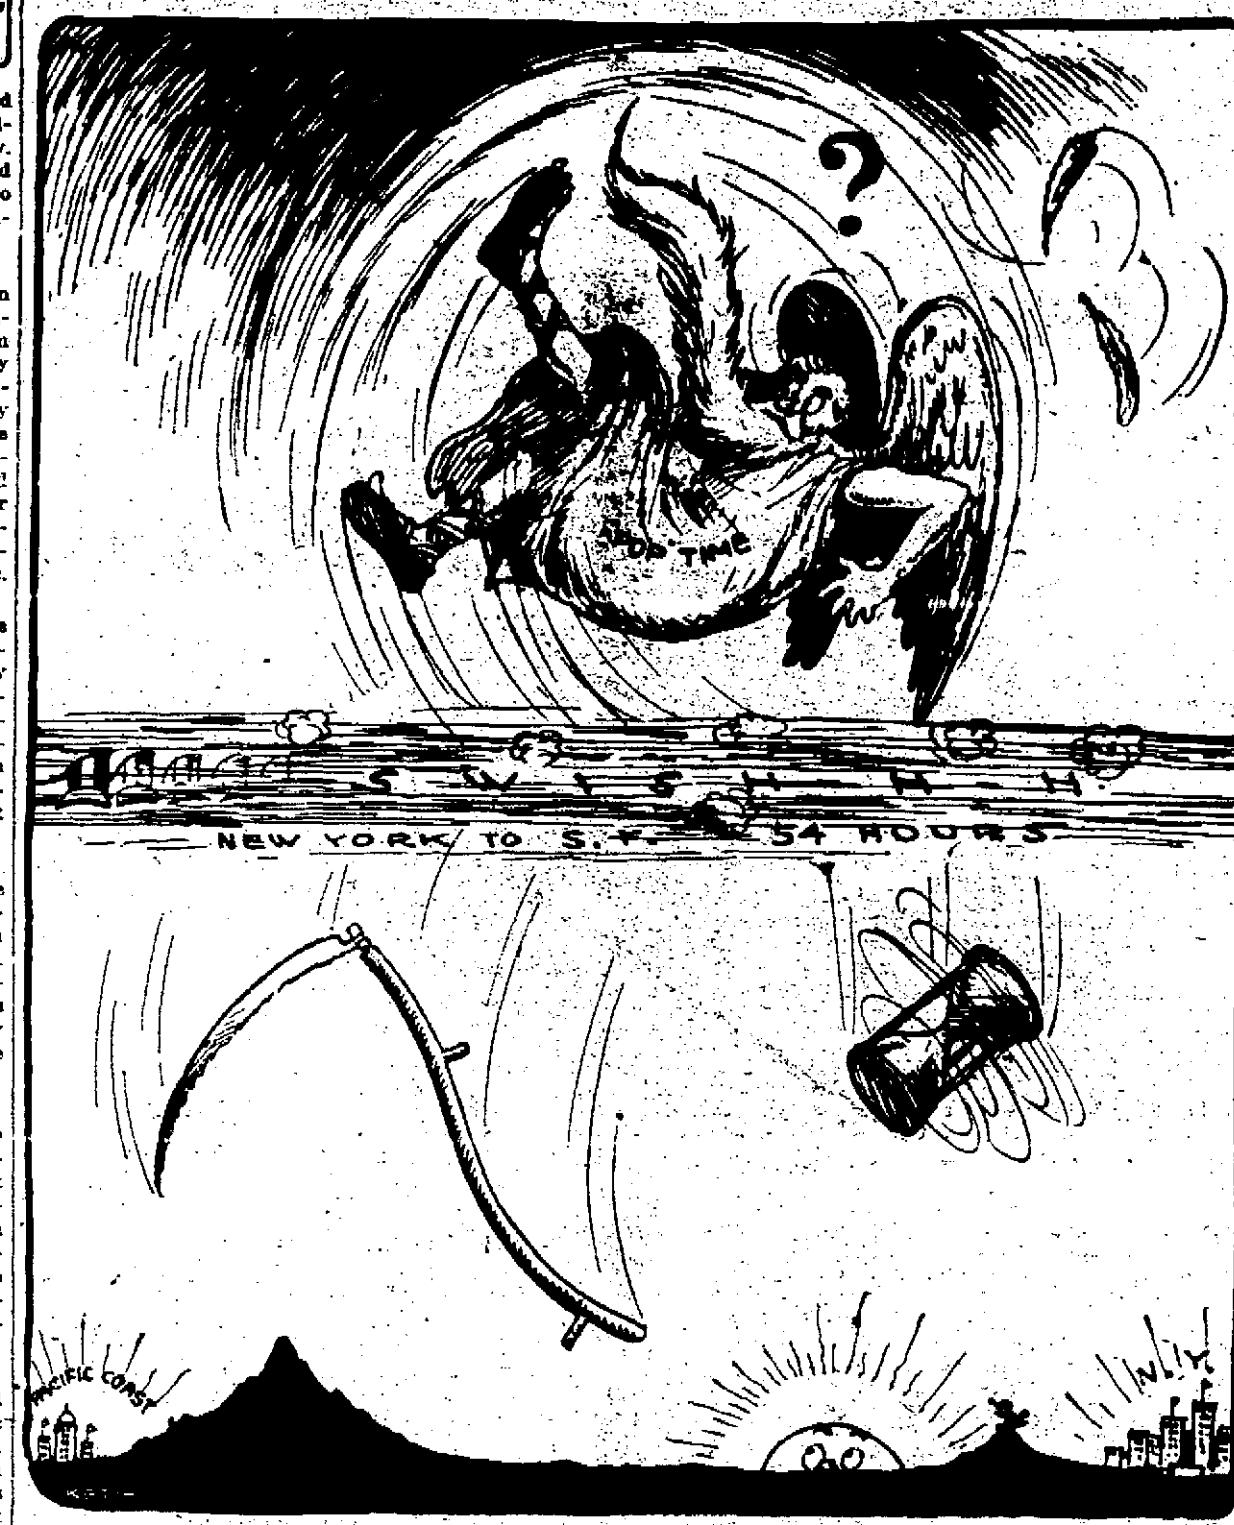

Bout & Lent, owners of 400 acres of tomatoes, one of the largest tomato fields in the state, have this week commenced picking. The entire crop is intended for the canneries at Pittsburg but because the cannery is not yet ready the first week's picking is being shipped to the San Francisco market.—Rio Vista Banner.

Alameda evidently has a system of punishing traffic law breakers that deserves emulation. Of a batch of nine autoists arrested by the speed traps and appearing for trial, two cases were concluded from one to two weeks; one driver was fined $10 for operating with open muffler; one was deprived of his car for one week; one deprived of car for one month; another for two months; two for three months, and one for four months. The speed maniacs apparently got no opportunity to pay a fine and run out for another speed stunt in Alameda.—Hanford Sentinel.

Shirley Blakely was arrested at Colton, Riverside county, on a charge of stealing two pianos, seventy chairs and other furniture from a church. Blakely was sold by priests at the church to have won their confidence until he was given free run of the premises, and last Thursday carried off the furniture in a truck. The missing furniture was found in a second-hand store two blocks from the church.—Dixon Tribune.

An Oakland woman, aged 65 years, had her shoulder dislocated by being thrown violently against a door frame while trying with other gentle women to crowd her way into a courtroom where a woman who had murdered her husband was on trial. This is what in polite society is sometimes known as a "crush." The reason for the stampede was that the Judge had announced the testimony would not be fit for women to hear.—Stockton Record.

KEITH IMITATIONS DECLARED WORK OF BAY PAINTERS

Fake canvases purporting to be original paintings by William Keith, famous California landscape artist, have been disposed of to unsuspecting art lovers for some time, netting thousands or dollars to their perpetrators, according to Mrs. Mary McHenry Keith, widow of the distinguished painter, who resides at 3701 Rock Ridge, Berkeley.

Mrs. Keith's revelations follow disclosures made by Mrs. Will Fitzhugh in San Francisco, who found a duplicate of her own original Keith painting of the Le Conte Oaks in a well-known art store. Mrs. Fitzhugh's experience is no different than that of many other persons throughout the country, says Mrs. Keith, who has been appealed to by art critics to save the reputation of her famous husband by displaying her own valuable collection of paintings.

COLLECTION ALL FAKES.

In Chicago, Mrs. Keith states that a collection of alleged Keiths numbering some twenty-one canvases in all were recently discovered to be all fakes after their owner had paid large sums for them which he thought were genuine works of the California artist. That two painters to the bay section, one formerly with a studio in Berkeley, are the real perpetrators of the fake Keith canvases and have inspired others to net thousands of dollars in a similar way is the declaration of members of the Keith family. As these artists do not dispose of the canvases themselves they are protected from prosecution by the technicalities of the law, say those who deplore the depreciation of the name of probably the most famous of all California painters.

"We have known of this illicit traffic in so-called 'Keith' canvases for some time," said Mrs. Keith today at her Berkeley home. "There is little we can do, however, except warn people to beware of the fake paintings. Mr. Keith was a very good painter with a style easily imitated, so it is difficult in many instances except for real experts to distinguish the original from the duplicate."

WORK HIS SIGNATURE.

Mr. Keith rarely signed his paintings. Many times requests would be made to him by art dealers that he place his name on a canvas. He invariably replied that his work was his signature. But as there are many people who buy a name, not a painting, he sometimes signed his works.

"Valley Oaks," one of the famous paintings of the late William Keith, which has been specially popular with the "duplicators," and MRS. WILLIAM KEITH, who deplores fakes of her husband's canvases.

To those who are not art lovers a painting not an original, but with the forged name of Keith, would mean as much as the real thing. Art critics who really know Mr. Keith's works can tell otherwise whether a canvas bears his signature or not.

That the trade in Keiths which has sprung up here throughout the country and has sent critics to California to discover where the new "supply" of Keiths is coming from and "Valley Oaks," another, both special examples of the typically California art of the Berkeleyan. At present Mrs. Keith is being urged to display her canvases at Stanford University, while Charles Keeler, Berkeley poet, is arranging for an exhibition in the college city within the next few weeks.

DISPLAY IS URGED.

At her North Berkeley home and in San Francisco Mrs. Keith possesses probably the largest single collection of paintings by her husband in existence. These she has been urged to show at exhibitions in order that the public may know the

United Brethren Re-elect Woodruff Superintendent

Rev. L. F. Woodruff was re-elected superintendent of the California conference of the United Brethren in Christ in session at the First United Brethren church, Thirty-fourth and Adeline streets, today. This will make the fourth term that Rev. Woodruff has served as superintendent of the conference.

Reports presented to the conference show that there has been a general awakening of the church and considerable advance in membership and finance during the past year. Among the business provisions for the coming year at the conference was the increasing of the minimum salary for pastors to $1200 with parsonage furnished.

RECEPTION TO BISHOP.

Last evening a luncheon and reception to Bishop W. H. Washington, who is presiding over the conference, was held in the chancery house of the fifteenth birthday of Bishop Washington. An interesting feature of the conference has been that both his fifty-ninth birthday and his thirty-fifth wedding anniversary have occurred during the conference.

At the evening conference session Rev. T. E. Ringland of Los Angeles spoke on "Evangelism."

The Women's Missionary Association of the church, which is holding its annual conference jointly with the church, held an adjourned session yesterday afternoon, scriptural reading by Mrs. T. W. Ringland, opened the session and was followed by a duet by Ethel George of Stockton and Blanché Irwin of Selma.

The meeting yesterday afternoon closed the conference of the Women's Missionary Association.

OFFICERS ARE CHOSEN.

Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, Mrs. L. Carter; San Diego; Vice-President, Mrs. E. Looffel; Secretary, second vice-president; Mrs. L. Hammond; Third Vice-President; Mrs. A. M.

And in the early morn' my neighbor came and asked how I managed to look so well, and always have my clothes look as if they were new.

New Trainer at U. C. Has Had Much Experience in Handling College Athletes

William C. Bryan, one time famous American sprinter and late coach of the University of Southern California athletes, has wired to Graduate Manager, that his acceptance of the position of track coach at the University of California recently left vacant by the resignation of Charles V. Volz.

Volz, who has held his position with the University for the past three years, has resigned because his wife is handling accident cases in connection with an Oakland doctor prevents him from spending enough time to the increasing needs of the University training quarters.

In discussing Volz's resignation, Manahan said the loss of Volz, a man who has served the Blue and Gold faithfully and well over a long period, will greatly benefit track men and other athletes working out in the morning.

RYAN HAS FINE RECORD.

Ryan has a record as an athlete and as a teacher which is unequalled in America from England in 1892 to become athletic instructor and trainer at the University of Pennsylvania, which he will hold until October 1. During this period he will be the Penn track team out of obscurity and placed it as one of America's leading intercollegiate teams, coming in second in the national championship in 1896.

The Penn football team during the years 1893-4-5-6 were among the best in the history of the University, and this was given the credit for the physical condition of the men in those years.

In 1897 Bryan was called to the University of Evansville, Indiana, as coach and trainer. After only one year's time in developing his men's track squad of eleven met and defeated the University of Michigan, 10-9, in their first meet at Evansville.

This marked the first defeat of Stagg, Chicago's coach, in a dual meet.

The Spanish-American War took Bryan away from the realm of intercollegiate sports.

Between this close and the year 1908 he brought out winning teams from George Washington University, the Washington School for Boys. In 1908 he went to Denver where he coached a championship basketball team for the Colorado School of Mines. In this year he was chosen president of the A. A. U.

ENTERED THE SERVICE.

Bryan again entered the service in 1917 and was promoted to captain and held a captain's commission and a medal for meritorious service. After the war he again took up his athletic career with the University of Southern California, where he has been till the present.

In the course of his training and coaching Bryan has developed some famous athletes among them Burholz, one-time champion pole vault; Ramsdell, sprinter; and Orton, two-mile steeplechase champion.

Bryan's biggest feat abroad was the organization in 1900 of the first football team that ever played a game in England.

At California Ryan will serve in the same capacity as did Charlie Volz, coach for all three years.

He will devote a full day to his work in the training quarters, an improvement over the old afternoon system that will greatly benefit track men and other athletes working out in the morning.

YARDON AND RAY WIN.

GOSSIP OF THE ALLEYS

The highly touted Olympic club football team went down to defeat before the Santa Clara eleven yesterday by a score of 7-0.

The game took place at Ewing Field, San Francisco. Cochran, the Santa Clara fullback, made a forty-yard run and was the bright star of the day.

The fall bowling season will get under way at the Pineland alleys tonight, when the Maryland Semi-Pro

League starts off on its twenty-eighth week schedule.

Last season this was the most successful league, losing only one game to the New England team.

It is the Pineland alleys that have been claimed to be the best in the country.

The schedule for the opening night's play calls for Les Smart vs.

Alanson Smart, and Harry

Anderson vs. Eddie Ray de-

Yardon.

Other games will be announced later.

CITY TO FIGHT FOR CROSSING

The application of the city of Oakland for a grade crossing at the feet of Seventh street and the entrance to Oakland Pier will be heard at the council chambers at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, with a railroad commissioner as the judge, according to City Attorney H. L. Hagan, he expects a battle. Hagan says that the city's case will rest on the following points.

The city of Oakland has an obligation to furnish a road to the Pier Terminal and Albers mills and warehouses, which would otherwise be cut off.

The city must have a connection with its own waterfront.

The city and the Southern Pacific were believed to have already agreed on the grade crossing.

"I believe the city is entitled to the crossing and should get it," says Hagan.

'Other Men' Win Divorces for Three Oakland Spouses

Although Mrs. Alice C. Hennemeyer, 19-year-old bride, wedded in a manner more than two years after her maid became a Christian, joined the church and later had kissed the Bible and sworn she would not repeat her previous offenses, she did not keep her word, was the testimony of William S. Hennemeyer, the husband, who was granted a divorce today by Superior Judge Fred V. Wood. Hennemeyer said his wife began to associate with other men, go to "boy" dives, and remain out all night less than six months after their marriage last March. The magistrate took photo in Pugachev, Province of Alberta, Canada.

HEARD MALE VOICES.

The husband, who is a mariner, testified that he first became suspicious when wife would voice words on the telephone at their home, 3432 Telegraph avenue, the owners of which would hang up the receiver when he answered. On his return from a sea voyage, he said, he found his wife away and that she had been out all night. When she returned, she said she had been with a certain girl friend, but he found this was untrue.

When he confronted her with his suspicion, she said she would be nothing further. Later she admitted she had been out with other men. He told her to leave, but said she should cook herself a steak for dinner before she left. She did so, but in the meantime he sent for his attorney, Caspar A. Ornbau, who gave her a lecture and urged a reconciliation.

WOULD KISS BIBLE.

Hennemeyer said if his wife would kiss the Bible and swear to do right in the future, he would grant her a divorce. She complied, but he declared that after another trip from home he found she had broken her promise.

Judge Joseph Koford gave to Downer the custody of two daughters, 4 and 11 years of age.

WIFE IS CHASED.

A wild chase through Oakland and its environs while following his wife and a joy riding party was recited by Walter L. Hogan in his suit for divorce against Louise.

Hogan, who resides at 2524 Ninth Avenue, said his wife insisted upon working in a dance hall and absent herself from home at such unusual hours that he employed a detective to watch her movements. Hogan reported his wife's alleged escapades; he would not believe it, Hogan said, so he accompanied the detective on a searching expedition.

The first night he followed his wife, Hogan said, their machine could not keep pace with the one his wife with another woman and two men were riding in, so he had to secure a better machine the next night. This second trip fully confirmed all the detective had told him, Hogan said.

Hogan was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce by Judge Joseph Koford.

Petition for Adoption Is Refused Woman

ANTIOCH, Sept. 10.—Samuel Baxter and George Hammer of this city are in the Martinez hospital, Baxter with a fractured skull which may be fatal, as the result of an automobile accident on the Pittsburg road last night.

They were found in a wrecked machine which went over an embankment near the Leo Medanos oil pumping station. Hammer, the less seriously hurt, said the lights of the car suddenly went out as they were driving rapidly, causing them to miss the road.

Hammer has a broken hip and strained back, and both men received many cuts. Baxter is a soft drink merchant. He has a wife and four children.

All-Metal Airplane Carries 7 in Flight

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10.—An all-metal airplane, carrying seven men made a round trip flight yesterday between Los Angeles and San Diego. The start for the southern city was made at 12:25 o'clock in the afternoon, and San Diego was reached an hour later. The return trip, taking a hour and 18 minutes. The plane was piloted by Dr. C. Stock and Dr. B. L. Clark will continue the work of Dr. Merriam in the paleontology department at the University.

Cities Robbing Rural Regions of People

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Shortage of labor in the agricultural states is resulting in a reduction of acreage which threatens America's food supply according to the findings of Perry F. Walker, dean of the Kansas University engineering school, made public today at national headquarters of the American Society of National Engineers. The demand of a research committee of the Mid-Atlantic Section of that society.

Dean Walker found population at a standstill or declining in agricultural sections, pointing out that 16 of the 105 counties in Kansas prevented that state from decreasing in population in a decade, the increases all being in industrial sections. "The same thing holds good in Iowa and doubtless in other states for the same period," the dean reported.

Many farmers cannot pay their 1919 debts because the railroads are unable to move their wheat harvest, and they are piling down production, he said.

Passenger planes were Harry Chandler, John B. Miller, H. M. Robinson, and Cecil R. DeMille of Los Angeles, and Max Fisher of Riverside.

The distance between the cities is 108 miles by air line.

Hearing Resumed in Auto Bus Controversy

RICHMOND, Sept. 10.—Resumption of the hearing on the application of the San Francisco-Oakland Interurban Railway and the city of Richmond for an order to prevent the busting of the Western Motor Transport Company for operating in Macdonald avenue west of Twenty-third street began this morning at the City Hall before Railroad Examiner Hugh Gordon.

Traffic Manager Harris of the street railway company is expected to be on the stand most of the day detailing the conditions of the transportation company.

Political Committees Will Hold Meetings

RICHMOND, Sept. 10.—Members of the newly elected Republican and Democratic county central committees will meet at the court house at Martinez on next Tuesday afternoon.

ANNUAL MEETING

RICHMOND, Sept. 10.—Perkins for construction of three cottages in Ninth street between Lucas and Lincoln avenues have been let by W. J. Thorne of San Francisco to A. J. McNamara. Efforts are being made to secure financiers and builders from out of town to erect about 200 homes, none in an effort to accommodate the workers in local industries, who are coming to Oakland and Berkeley on account of the house shortage.

Awakes From Trance Of Over Two Years

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 10.—After being in a trance for more than two years, Mrs. Clara Jorgenson, avoided surprised friends and relatives by relating important events that transpired during her sleep. Within a day, Mrs. Jorgenson was walking about, using table utensils and feeding herself with ease.

And also praying that a place be set for the holding of said petition and great cause appearing therfore, she hereby ordered, that the next day of said motion, and all persons interested in said said estate, appear before this court in the Court House, the City of Berkeley, County of Alameda, State of California, on the fourth day of October, 1920, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day and that to show cause if any they have why an order should not be granted to said cause, and for such as may be granted in said cause, reference to which is hereby made for a particular description of said real property, and for further papers, and, further, that a copy of this order be published at least once a week for three successive weeks in the OAKLAND TRIBUNE, a newspaper printed and published in and County of Alameda, State of California.

It is her further ordered, that a copy of this order be published at least once a week for three successive weeks in the OAKLAND TRIBUNE, a newspaper printed and published in and County of Alameda, State of California.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Subscription books for the $100,000,000 French loan were closed within an hour of their opening yesterday, it was announced by J. P. Morgan & Co., legal agents for the French government.

The loan, which bears 3 per cent interest and matures in 20 years, was oversubscribed.

INDICTED FOR MURDER

ALEXANDRIA, Minn., Sept. 10.—Gustaf Nelson, son-in-law of United States Senator Knute Nelson, was indicted on a charge of murder in the first degree by the Douglas county grand jury today in connection with the shooting last March of Joseph Middleton, in this city. Nelson will be tried for murder.

"He is rather dusky," agreed the lawyer. "But I guess we can man-

DEMURRS FILED IN IRRIGATION SUIT

Demurrs to the amended complaint in which the city of Antioch seeks to prevent 110 rice growers from diverting water for irrigation from the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers, were filed in the superior court today. Hearing on the demurrs was set for Monday by Judge A. F. St. Sure. This date has also been set for the reading of further affidavits by the plaintiffs in support of their contentions.

The demurrs were filed by the Colusa Delta Land company, the Colusa D. Phelan interests, and the Colusa Irrigation district. The demurrs ask that the litigation be thrown out of court because the amended complaint fails to state what riparian rights the city of Antioch claims, and whether the 500,000 gallons of water alleged to be used by the city daily is used for domestic or other purposes. The suit is also attached to the ground that the amended complaint is ambiguous and fails to state a cause of action.

SCHOOL INTERIOR

Youthful Bolshevik, to whom the enforced attendance at school after the long vacation seemed unattractive, manifested their dislike for schools and everything pertaining to them last night, when they broke into the Clawson school, Thirty-fourth and Magnolia streets, and wrecked the interior of the building.

The outbreak of sabotage occurred between the hours of 10 p. m. and 11 this morning, according to the report of A. J. Sturzon, janitor of the school to the police today.

Sturzon went to the building this morning and found the interior in a state of disruption. In one room all the desks had been ripped from the floor and piled in a heap in one corner of the room.

Almost the entire supply of school books in the building had been taken away and the leaves torn from them. Ink bottles had been emptied, and in many of the rooms the ink was spattered on the white walls.

So great was the confusion that it was impossible to hold classes this morning in the school for several hours. An effort is being made to find the persons responsible.

On the outside of the building shrapnel was uprooted and destroyed. The police are investigating the matter.

AUTO IS LOCKED,

PAIR ARRESTED

Anthony Santos and John Goncalves, according to the police, last night attempted to steal the car of Jerry Lees, 120 Tenth street, J. A. Jones, of 422 Tenth street, a friend of Lees and known as an amateur pistol shot, observed the pair enter the machine and fumble with the switch, which was locked. He secured his best automatic, which he has used in pistol matches up and down the coast, and drew a bead on the two men, told the police that he had succeeded in starting the machine.

They couldn't start it. They walked away and Jones followed them until he encountered Patrolman George Hall and the two men were arrested.

POOR WALES!

MIDWEST, New South Wales, Sept. 10.—The Prince of Wales had the time of his life here among the hard-riding, straight-shooting, outspoken ranchers and, by his adaptability and good fellowship, made himself extremely popular. In his first few days he had won the hearts of the people.

He was invited to the bungalow of Mr. and Mrs. George Hall and, though he had been offered sugar and water, he said, "No, I don't want any sugar." The prince, however, insisted on sugar and water for a white butterfly.

"Sugar and water for a white butterfly," went on Nurse Jane. "I never heard of such a thing." Wriggily, you aren't fooling me, are you?"

"Oh! Oh! Oh!" sighed Nurse Jane. "Ha! Ha! Have no fear, follow me; I said a gentle voice, and something white fluttered in the darkness, just ahead of Uncle Wiggily.

"What are you?" asked the bunny. "I am the white butterfly to whom you kindly gave sugar and water."

"Don't tell me we're lost!" cried Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "I'm afraid so," went on the bunny. "We're off the path, and now I don't know where the bushes are."

"Oh! Oh! Oh!" sighed Nurse Jane. "Ha! Ha! Have no fear, follow me; I said a gentle voice, and something white fluttered in the darkness, just ahead of Uncle Wiggily.

MARQUEE LAW IS URGED OF CITY COUNCIL

marquees and the master was referred to the city attorney.

What is a marquee and what should be done with a marquee when one has one?

This question was asked the city council today by Building Inspector J. A. Lloyd who wanted the council to define a marquee and "fix a policy for future guidance."

A marquee was found to be a structure, a awning or something erected over a door or shop entrance.

The building inspector, however, says he is receiving an increasing number of applications for constructing marquees and fears they are "being used as a subterfuge for fixed sign advertising."

The building inspector desired to have a definite policy with regard to the building of a marquee.

MURDERER, WHO FLED S. F. JAIL, IS BEING HUNTED

The escape of George ("Lefty") Lewis, convicted murderer, from the San Francisco jail marks the disappearance of the last of three desperadoes who were accused by the police of having committed a series of crimes in Oakland and San Francisco, including the murder of Greek restaurant keeper in West Oakland, in connection with which one of their own number was killed in a battle with the police, and left living in a dying condition on the lawn of the Providence hospital, while the others made their escape.

The third member of the group was Frank Alderson, who escaped from Folsom a month ago. He is still at large.

Lewis and Alderson were charged by the Alameda county authorities with robbery as the result of the West Oakland shooting and looting of the restaurant in question. Alderson pleaded guilty and was sent to Folsom. Lewis was surrendered to the San Francisco authorities, who were able to prefer a charge of murder against him in connection with the killing of his companion.

Sheriff Frank Barnett charged that an automobile belonging to Charles L. Baender, known as the "master crook," and who now is in the Alameda county jail awaiting decision on his appeal following his conviction in a Federal court on a charge of counterfeiting, was used in the West Oakland robbery. When the men concerned in it found that one of their number had been shot, they took refuge in the lawn of the Providence hospital in the shooting and a few minutes later telephoned to the hospital that a dying man was in front of the place. He was immediately given attention, but died shortly afterward.

Two Workmen Lose Fingers in Machines

BERKELEY, Sept. 10.—William Sanchez, employee of the El Dorado Oil works, suffered the loss of the four fingers on his right hand when they became enmeshed in some machinery.

In an accident at the Vegetable Oil works, John O'Toole, 2127 East Twenty-second street, Oakland, suffered the loss of his middle finger on his right hand.

DR. F. S. BARBER

INSTRUCTORS TOO FEW AT U.C. TO SERVE STUDENTS

BERKELEY, Sept. 10.—Because of a shortage of instructors almost 1900 students have been refused instruction in languages at the university.

The serious deficiency in the faculty became known today with the submission of figures showing that of the 1750 students desiring to take Spanish only 1100 could be accommodated. In the French department where 1557 sought to enroll 157 were barred because of an insufficient number of teachers. In the upper division language courses from thirty to fifty per cent of the student applicants have been rejected.

An unusual demand for foreign languages coupled with a limited teaching staff is given as the cause.

The popularity of foreign languages is believed due to an appeal from President Barrows at the opening of the term to learn some other tongue besides their own as a means of cementing friendly relations between the United States and other countries.
